Foreword

"When Time who steals our years away
Shall steal our pleasures too,
The mem'ry of the past will stay,
And half our joys renew."

—Moore

In 1542 when Cabrillo sailed into the beautiful harbor which was later named San Diego, he must have foreseen the possibilities that awaited the men and women of courage and vision. In the march of time a sleeply little Spanish village has developed into a bustling metropolis of today. One of the first trees planted was a palm to wave its banner heavenward.

In 1900 the pioneers of our Seventh-day Adventist church opened the doors of the first church school in San Diego to direct their children heavenward. They had the Christian's foresight to see an army of youth go from its doors to win souls for Christ. These pioneers have watched the little one-room school house of seventeen pupils grow to our present academy plant enrolling approximately five hundred fifty pupils.

As the faculty and school board planned this school year, they sought to give the students a well-rounded program of physical, mental, social, and spiritual activities. As we, the Lighthouse Staff, have endeavored to capture the highlights of this year for you—our school mates, our parents, and our friends—we have chosen as the theme of our 1959 Lighthouse "MEMORIES."

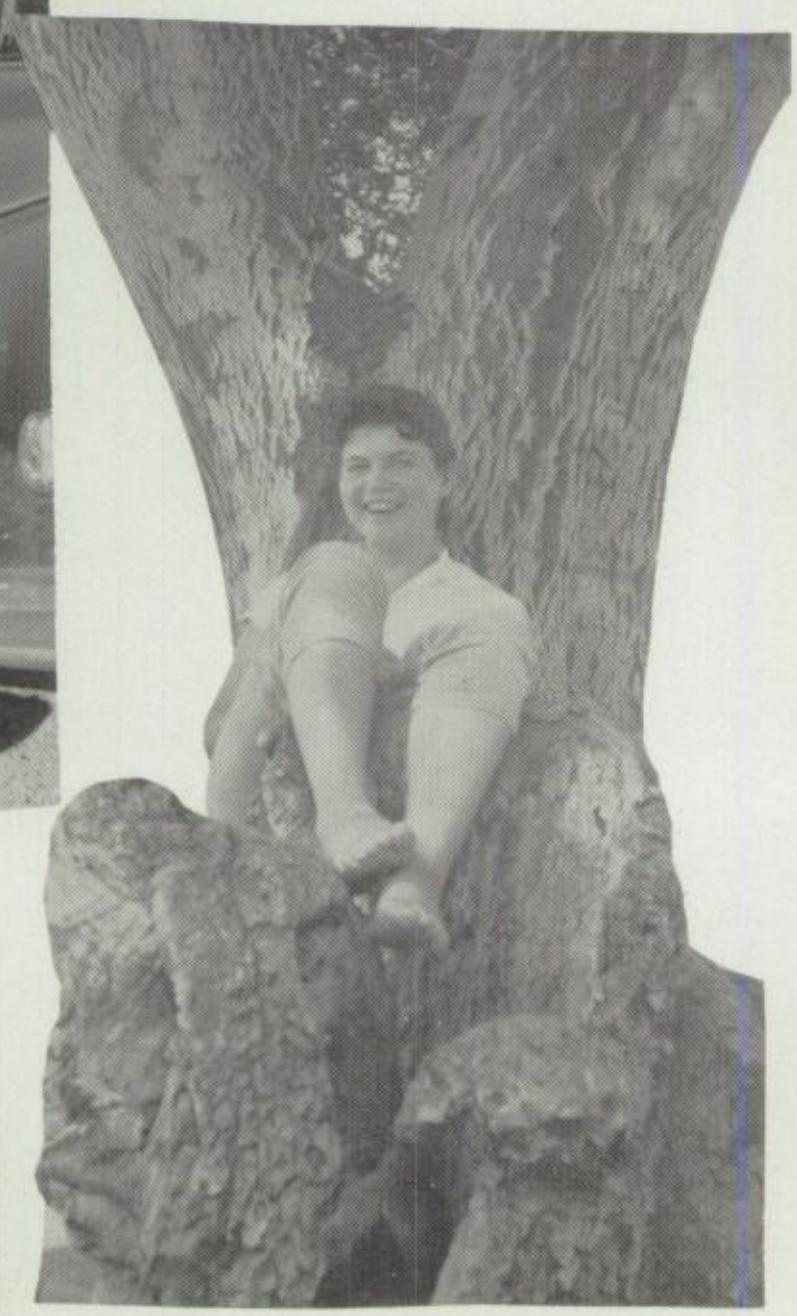
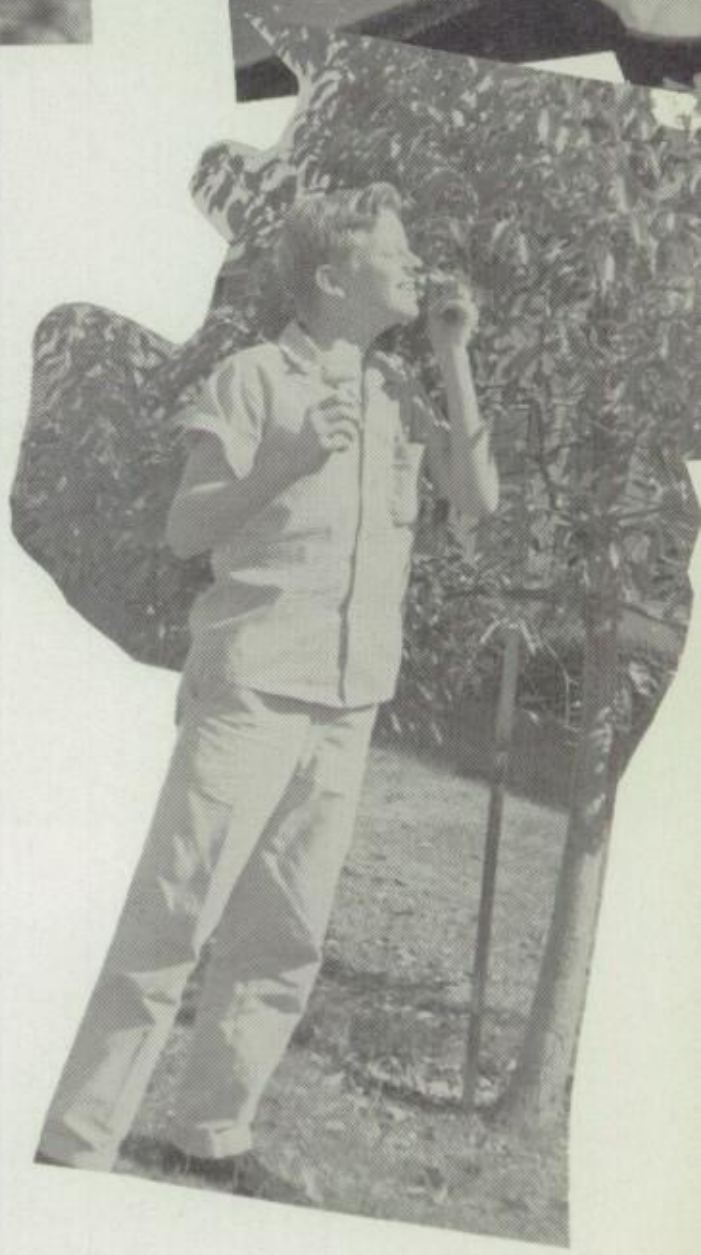
Vacation Reveries

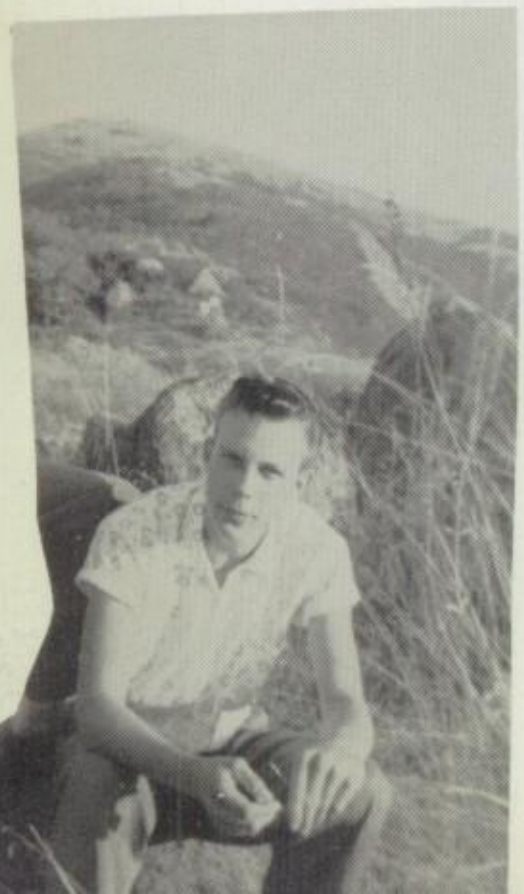
Vacations are fun
we all will agree,
We camp in the hills,
or we play by the sea.

We look at the scenery
and see all the sights,
Or we take a pack-sack
and we climb to the heights.

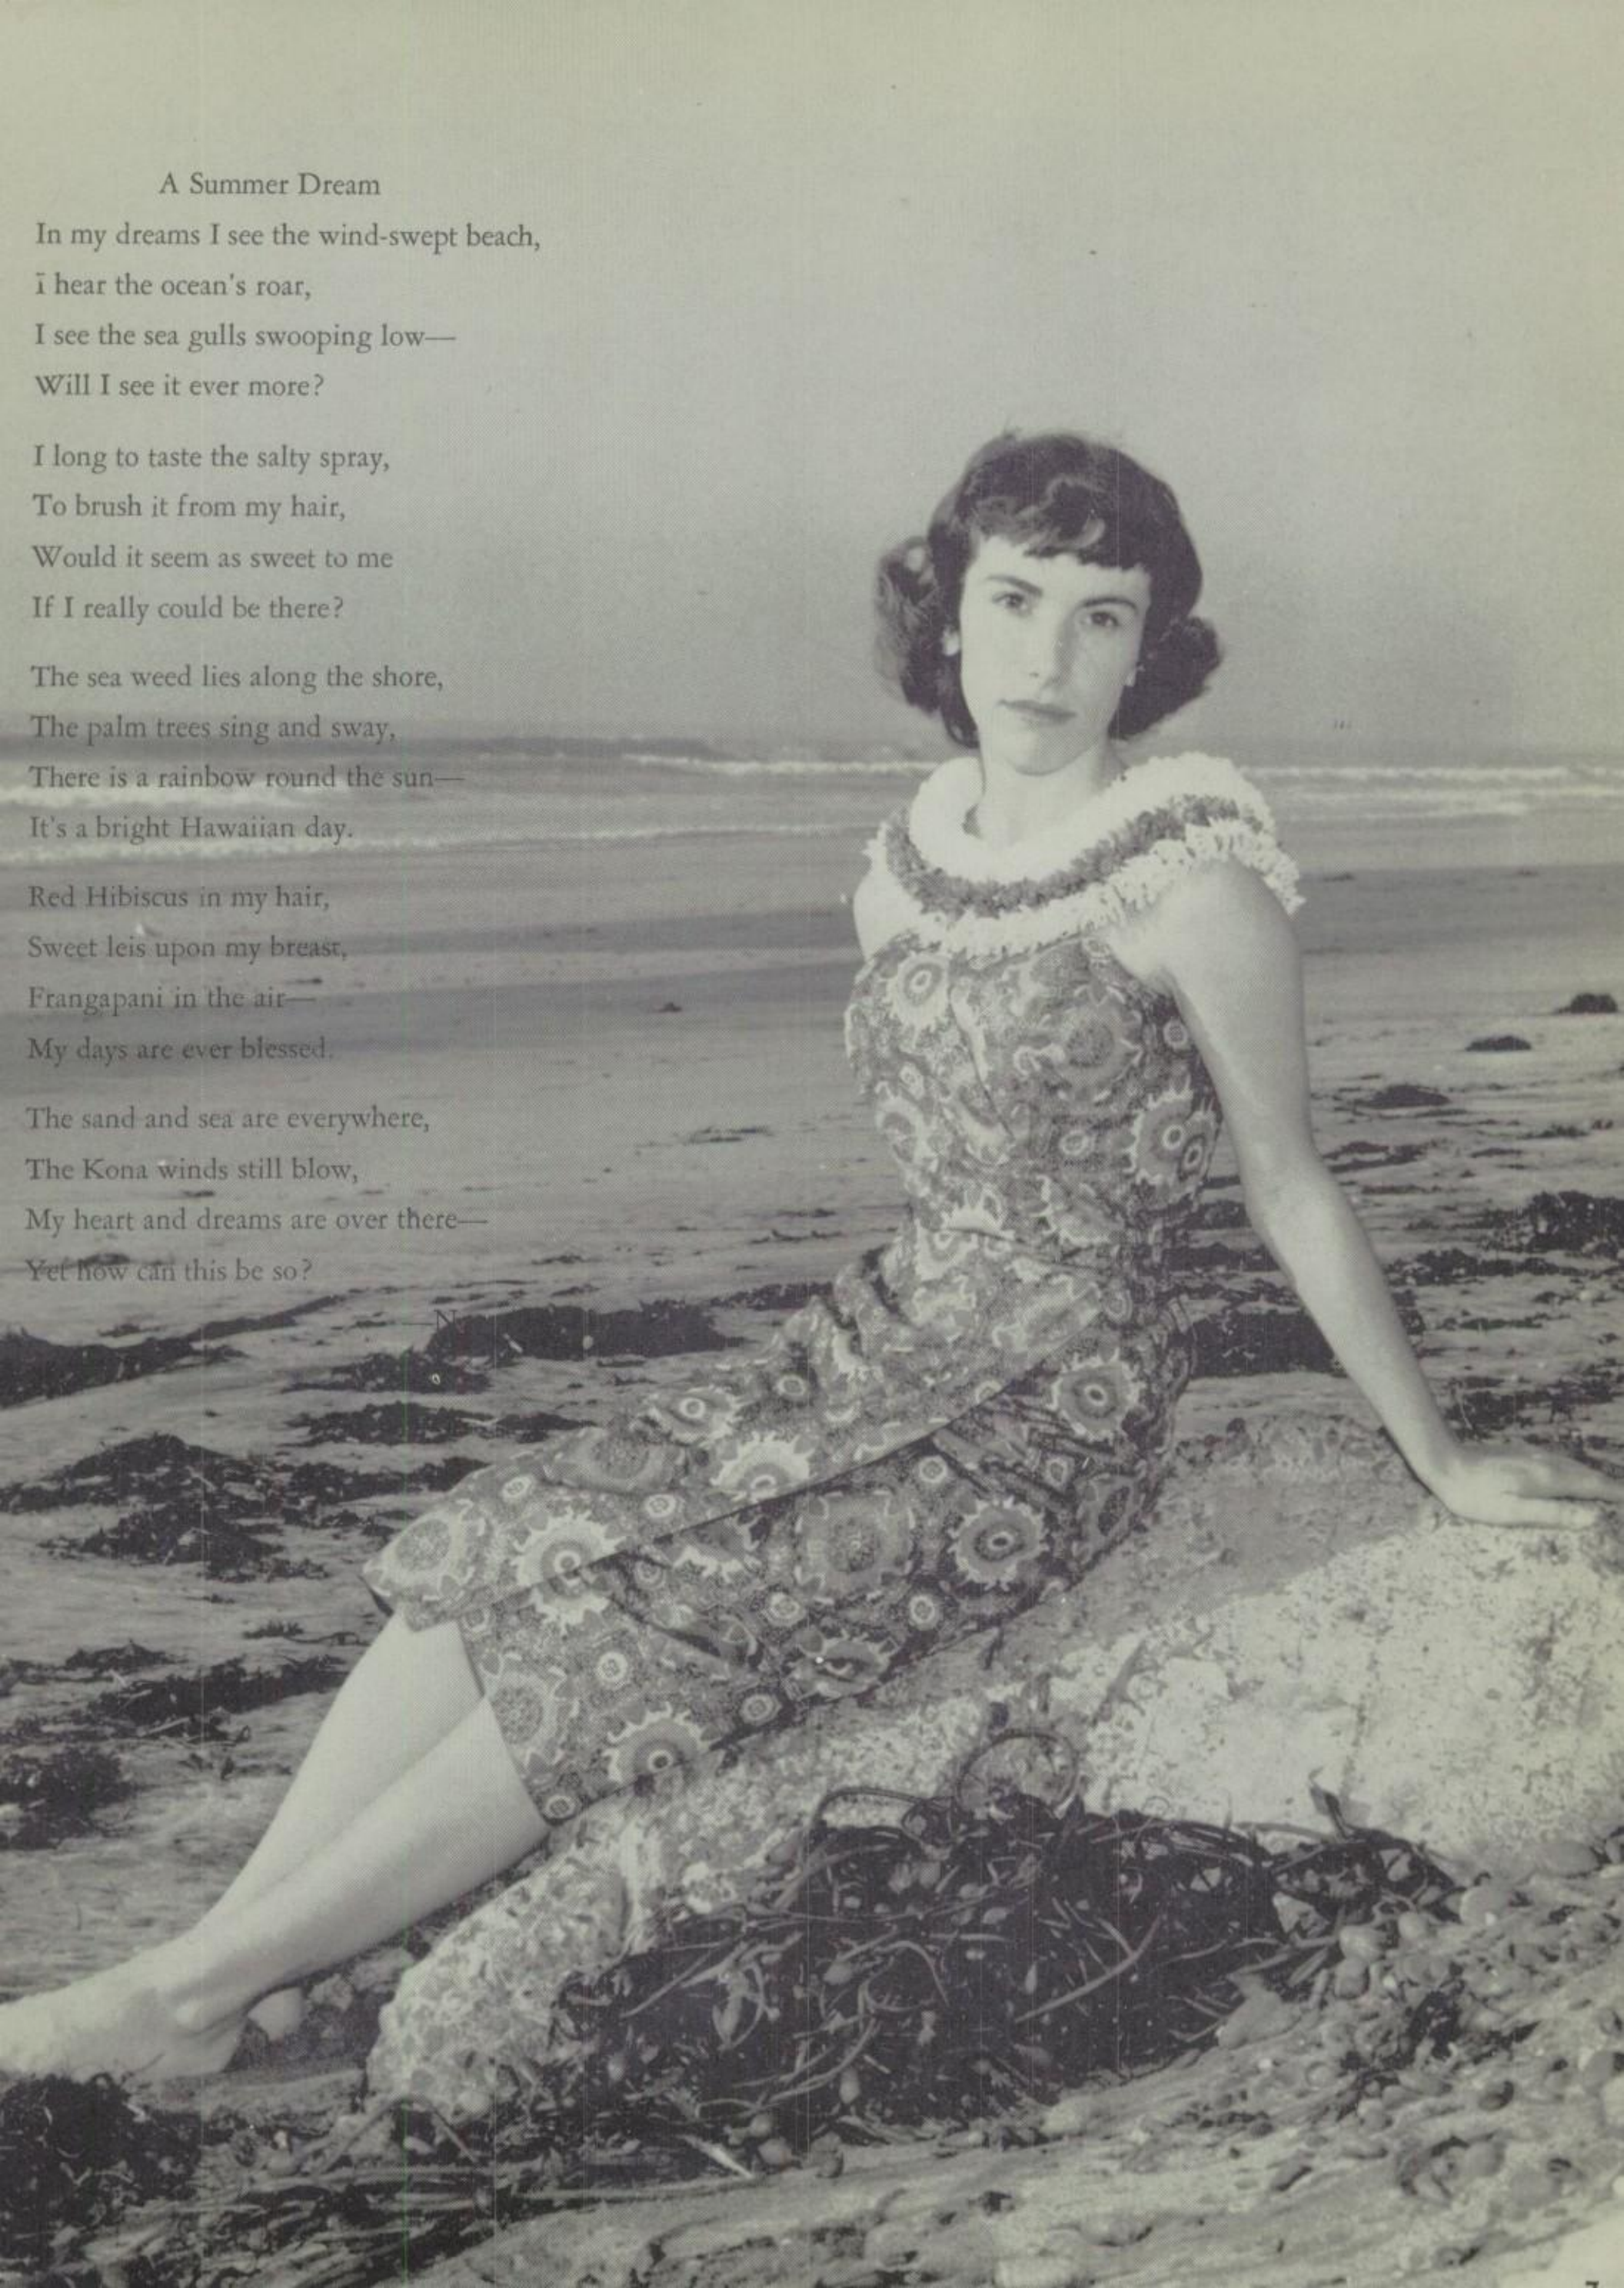
We ski on the water
behind a fast boat,
We play on the sand,
or we swim and we float;
The fishing is good
from the green river banks—
For Summer Vacation
we do give our thanks!







No tests or no studies
to prey on our mind,
It's good to be free
from the every day grind.



A Summer Dream

In my dreams I see the wind-swept beach,
I hear the ocean's roar,
I see the sea gulls swooping low—
Will I see it ever more?

I long to taste the salty spray,
To brush it from my hair,
Would it seem as sweet to me
If I really could be there?

The sea weed lies along the shore,
The palm trees sing and sway,
There is a rainbow round the sun—
It's a bright Hawaiian day.

Red Hibiscus in my hair,
Sweet leis upon my breast,
Frangapani in the air—
My days are ever blessed.

The sand and sea are everywhere,
The Kona winds still blow,
My heart and dreams are over there—
Yet how can this be so?

—N.

Little Things

There are little things I'd say
If I knew how to rhyme,
But since it is a pleasant day,
I haven't got the time.

'Twould be about a crystal lake
'Tween mountains grand and tall,
And on its shores the birds would make
Their nests until the fall.

I'd tell about the Autumn leaves
In red and golden brown,
And how in gentle Autumn breeze,
They all go fluttering down.

And then I'd tell of Winter's snow,
The very first that year,
And how the icy brook would flow
Where come the woodland deer.

And after that I'd write of Spring
And of the dogwood fair,
The thrush that makes the wildwood sing,
The cuddly baby hare.

And, Oh, of course I'd tell the rest,
Of summer bright and blue,
And little birds who leave the nest—
All these I'd tell to you!

—Charlene

Where flowers are most fragrant
And the trees are ever green,
We view God's work of Nature
And we marvel at the scene.
The snowy, white-capped mountain
With its mirrored lake below,
Invites us to its lofty height
Where gentle breezes blow.
The brook beside the meadow
And the tumbling waterfall,
Both join their hands in friendship
Along the cedared wall.
And we like to dream at twilight
In this shadowed forest shrine,
As we sit around the campfire
And we think on things Divine.

—Delmer

DREAM HOUSE

I close my eyes and dream about a house that is not real,
And yet as I approach its gates I somehow always feel
At home.
I sense before I enter it the welcome of the hall,
I know and love the pictures that hang upon each wall.
It's home.
My fingers touch the furniture, each piece familiar, dear,
For I have seen it often in my dreams year after year—
This home.
This chair or that I recognize as having come from home
(The one in which I'm living now, and may for years to come,
That home),
But here they look quite different when mingled with things new
That I have chosen one by one with just this house in view—
My home!
Not only chairs, but love and peace that I've known here at home
Will go with me to that dream house that I shall call my own,
Dear home.
The rugs are gay, the curtains bright, the maple glows with care,
One cannot help but know that love and quiet joy dwell there—
A home.
Sometimes I grow so homesick as I walk back through the gate,
It seems the dream is surely real, and I can hardly wait
For home.

SUMMER

Summer is a busy time of year. School is out and the kids are home, and you wish it were fall and they were back in school.

Do you try and plan your summers? Do you arrange for vacations that fall through? Do you plan beach parties when it rains? Do you arrange for camping trips when it snows? Do you get up a big swimming party when everyone comes down with a cold? Do the ants always visit your picnics? Does the sand always seem to find its way into your food? Does a beach party, camping trip, or just a little family outing mean more headaches, hard work and trouble to you?

If so, then you are probably just a normal hard-working American trying to get a little relaxation. Well, don't give up now! In just a few "short" months the kids will be back in school and you can settle down to the old "grind" and relax a little.

In appreciation for your helping hand,
for your understanding smile,
for your patient and forgiving heart,
and most of all for your day by day
example of Christian living,

Principal's Message

It is good to know that the true meaning of our lives is not to be found in the material aspects of our daily lives. Today there are so many evil forces loosed in the world, so much pain and suffering, and so many threats to the freedoms we enjoy that one is tempted to ask, "What is there left to thankful about?"

The important thing is not to lose heart. If we lose money, we lose something. If we lose our integrity, we lose more. If we lose our courage, we lose everything.

To those of us who work and live in a Christian school the Lord has given special daily blessings, whether we recognize them or not. He has provided each with gifts to use and to enjoy. Among our friends we can find release from the evils of the world. By being thankful for the gifts of life, we set an example others will desire to imitate.

Let each of us make sure that our example will properly represent our school, church and home.

ELEMENTARY PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

What a marvelous heritage we have of being able to educate our young people in Christian Schools.

The San Diego Union Academy Elementary School has the function and purpose of surrounding our young people with spiritual influences that will lead them to give their lives to Christ; so that day by day we may see them grow and develop spiritually into witnesses for Him in this old world so full of sin.

May all of us, either parents or teachers, never lose sight of that goal and may we achieve it day by day and see its results in the characters of our young people as they live and develop into men and women, serving a Lord that they have learned to love.

Christian Education is truly the harmonious development of all three faculties—mental, spiritual and moral—and their correct use gives us victory now and forever.

THE VOICE OF YOUTH

Song Leader
SMITH

Announcer
VEVERKA

Long ago the prophet of God asked these questions: "Who of our youth will give themselves to God for the purpose of laboring for the salvation of their fellow youth? Who will put their talents of God to win souls?"

In accordance with this solemn question the young people of S.D.U.A. decided to share their faith two nights a week in a youth evangelism program at the La Mesa-Lemon Grove S.D.A. Church in eleven weekend programs from October 19 to November 23. Some young people gave out hand bills or literature, some ushered, many helped in the sacred music, and the youth pictured above gave the sermons. They were inspired by the words in Messages to Young People which declares that God calls for " . . . whole armies of young men who are large-hearted and large-minded and who have a deep love for Christ and the truth. With such an army of workers as our youth, rightly trained, might furnish, how soon the message of a crucified, risen, and soon-coming Saviour might be carried to the whole world!"

The speakers were: Charles Giddings, David Hall, Kaye Holland, Judy Johnson, Charlene Larsen, Dan Smith, Tom Smith, Cliff Williams, Sharon Kelly, Priscilla McDunnah, Sherrie Potter, Paul Steinbach, Lannie Rudley, Carol West, Jeanette Williams, Larry Veverka, Roger Denman, Jerry McIntosh, Judy Skeoch, Sue Purdy, Brian Manwarren, Ruth Franklin, Lynne Ferrar, James Holland, Wanda Palmer, Dorothy Dick, Florence Kolpacoff, Don Hardin.

Youth leader, Elder Walter Blehm, conducted our fall week of Devotion. He stressed the positive side of Christian living—the happiness that is in store for Christian young people, the joys of association, healthful recreation, the thrills in service for Christ.

Weeks of Prayer

"O GOD: When crisis comes my way and touches me,
Teach me the importance of myself if I would cease to lean
And be of help to others."

—Stark

Elder Ben Hassenphlug, well-known missionary, Evangelist, and present Pastor of the new Ocean Beach Seventh-day Adventist church, was the speaker at our Spring Week of Prayer. Elder Hassenphlug read much from the Holy Scriptures and stressed the ideas that youth must think, cultivate a desire for righteousness, and daily make a choice.

Whether or not he reaches the supreme goal depends on his daily choosing the right path and then placing his hand in the hand of God.

Student Office Staff—Gale Dauben, Wanda Palmer, Sandra Garner.

Welcome to your school, San Diego Union Academy, "Where Students Learn to Live." San Diego Academy is pleased to share its friendly halls and classrooms with you for another year of study and recreation.

Students of San Diego Academy have a happy time together. It would take many volumes to outline all the positive avenues of enjoyment which make living at this school a very pleasant experience.

Discover Your Future at La Sierra College

Discover the beauty of the campus — wide carpets of green velvet lawn, stately palm trees reaching for the sky, the heady sweetness of orange groves in bloom.

Know the joy of learning as you discover the widening horizon of the world of ideas, and learn, through experience, to help your fellow men.

Know the happiness that comes from having fun with Christian young people, from making friends that will be yours for life.

And above all, make the greatest discovery that any man can make — that a life, dedicated to God, is the fullest, the most rewarding life.

These discoveries, and many more, may be YOURS at La Sierra College.

Faculty and Students:

May I take this opportunity to express appreciation to the San Diego Union Academy for having chosen National City as a location site. You have made tremendous contributions to the Community. The fields of education, character building and good citizenship have been especially enriched by your presence.

With progressive leadership, such as yours, institutions of learning, like cities, mature rather than age. With maturity they serve the Community better.

With the solid foundation furnished by your institution, it is inconceivable at this time to attempt an estimation of the accomplishments your fine young men and women will achieve in future years. These achievments will in turn benefit Community, Country and Individual.

Again, I say we are grateful for your presence.

Yours very truly,

Walter F. Hodge

Dear Lois:-
I wonder sometimes what the music dept would have been like if you had not studied music — surely would not have been as good as you have added much to the work of the music part of our school. I am looking forward to seeing and hearing your further progress. Hope you will be well prepared to make music a career as you go on to college.

Sincerely
Hunter Johnson

The reason why I love you Dear
